The Election Yesterday.

As we write, about midnight, the result of the Presidential election depends upon the electoral votes of several Northern States, viz., New Jersey, Indiana, Connecticut, California and Nevada. New York is conceded to the Democrats. This, with the 153 votes of the Southern States, leaves but two votes needed to insure the inauguration of Grover Cleveland as the next President of the United States. New Jersey and Nevada, California and Connecticut, or Indiana alone, would assure Democratic success. The dispatches indicate a reasonable chance of the Democrats having secured all these States and certainly later returns ought to guarantee us two of them, and any two will serve the purpose. We have a good crop of roosters on hand. They are being fed on nourishing food and doubtless by to-morrow we will be able to trot them out.

In the country, according to the scant present data, the Republicans seem to have done better than was expected. Mr. Del Valle, also, appears to have suffered in some degree from a sudden development of Republican strength. However, we shall be able to discuss these matters far more intelligently in our next issue.

A Glaring Inequality in New State Inevitable.

Now that the travail and burly burly of the Presidential election are done with, it is right that a newspaper published in Los Angeles should call attention to a glaring inequality of which this end of the State has been for years the victim. It is only by the recent appointment that the exceptional growth of Southern California has been recognized in any degree, and that only partially. In fact, no data was accessible to the late Legislature which would enable it to give us more than two Senators and three Assemblymen, because its allotment was founded upon the vote at the gubernatorial election of 1882. Since that and an astonishing number of new voters have become eligible to vote, as the return printed elsewhere will show, we are greatly mistaken or Los Angeles county will either surpass or come very near Alameda county in the total vote cast this year, and yet the county by the Bay has three Senators and six Assemblymen, having a total representation in the legislature of nine members to our five.

This is a gross and grievous discrimination but it does not tell the whole story, by any means. Though first settled, the Southern portion of California has only begun to be understood of very late years. It required a peculiar intelligence and repeated experiments in new fields of agriculture and horticulture to develop the latent but tremendous possibilities of this section. Since we have learned to understand its advantages the Herald has been steadily of the opinion that most of the growth which will characterize the State for the next ten years will be recorded south of Point Conception, and unquestionably the most marked form of this phenomenal progress will be registered in Los Angeles county. We firmly believe that, by the time the census of 1890 is taken, there will be at least two thousand people settled in the three million three hundred thousand acres which compose the ample domain of Los Angeles county. The ratio of growth in population and wealth of the southern portion of the State will be infinitely greater than that which will be witnessed in the northern and central counties; and yet we will still, in Los Angeles county, be restricted to our two Senators and three Assemblymen; as, under the present system, no method has been provided for adjusting the representation to the actual state of the population. This has undoubtedly been less oversight than design, as the northern and central counties are very temerous of their control of the legislation of the State. As a consequence, a great, progressive and peculiar section, which requires much legislation of a kind of which the northern and central counties know nothing and care less, will find itself sitting at Sacramento like a bound boy at a busking. It requires no very great degree of intelligence to realize the inevitable result. When Los Angeles county, for instance, has five times the population of Sacramento, as it soon will have, it will not care to submit to such an intolerable wrong.

The solution of the difficulty unquestionably lies in the creation of a new State, to be called Los Angeles or South California. All the probabilities point to the early evolution of the new Commonwealth. A sagacious California Legislature could have postponed the inevitable day by a more flexible system of adjusting representation. If taxation without representation is robbery, taxation with only partial representation is robbery only lesser in degree. The tremendous strides in population which the elections return of yesterday show to have been made in Los Angeles during the past two years have been made in a lesser degree but still in splendid volume in all the Southern counties. They, like ourselves, will resent the injustice; and, out of this protest, will shortly grow a united action in favor of the creation of the new State. As the rotten borough State of Nevada dwindles in population and wealth day by day, the region known as Southern California is advancing in both with impetuous strides.

That a great revival of business prosperity will follow fast upon the heels of a Democratic success cannot be doubted. The attempt to terrorize the people into the belief that a

Bulletin No. 5.

PORTLAND, ORE., Nov. 4.—Weather clear and cool. The indications are that the state will exceed fifty thousand.

Bulletin No. 6.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nov. 4.—The weather is magnificient and a heavy vote is being cast. The one county three for President, three for the Legislature, and the other for the popular judges. The counties cast full local tickets. Out of 18,343 votes cast in 1876, Hinde had a majority of 57%.

Bulletin No. 7.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Charles Buckley, a prominent Democrat here, has been arrested at the instigation of Assistant United States District Attorney Carroll Cook.

Bulletin No. 8.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Reliable. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Election quiet; vote little scratching.

TOLEDO, OHIO, Nov. 4.—Raining till nine A.M.

New York, Nov. 4.—Both parties voting steadily and squarely. Tammany not cutting Cleveland; voting for Grant.

THOMAS, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Light rains. Vote light.

Bulletin No. 9.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 4.—Four wards give Blaine 273, Cleveland 179; plus 44 against September 32nd plurality, 63. Vote for St. John and Butler trifling. No excitement.

Bulletin No. 10.

BALTIMORE, MD., Nov. 4.—The Democrats are coming in with a majority for Cleveland in the Democratic states. The leader claim his majority in King's County is from 18,000 to 20,000. The Republicans contend it will not be greater than 10,000.

Bulletin No. 11.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Rushing. In the morning, heavy rain; in the afternoon, both parties satisfied with the vote.

Bulletin No. 12.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The election is proceeding here at 1 P.M. Three-fourths of the total vote was cast. Heavy scratching. Two more arrests were made for fraudulently voting.

Bulletin No. 13.

CHARLESTON, W. V., Nov. 4.—The weather is cloudy and rainy. The election is progressing quietly. The vote is about half of what it was in 1876.

Bulletin No. 14.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The betting in pool rooms is $100 to $70 on Cleveland carrying the state, and $100 to $80 on Blaine being elected.

CONNECTICUT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The weather is cool and cloudy. The election is progressing quietly. The nomination reveals, according to telegraphic advices, in the greater part of the State. In New York and Brooklyn the voting is remarkably quiet and steady, with only the usual attendance at the various polling places. In New York the polls opened at 6 A.M. and closed at 4 P.M. In Brooklyn they opened at sunrise 6:30 A.M., and will close at sunset, 4:45.

South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 4.—The election in South Carolina is for Governor, and State offices, members of the Legislature and Congressmen. The election is to be held in six congressional districts; there are to be sold to the nomination of the two principal parties, nomination by the electors of the people of each district. In five of these districts both those parties have made nominations. There are to be New York State offices. New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, as well as for President. The nomination will be compared and sent out according to law. The matter, however, has been arranged, local legal authorities agreeing not to vitiate the election, and voting is proceeding. An unusually heavy poll at 10 A.M. in Philadelphia, and at 1 P.M. in New York. The election is to be held in the month of November, 1884.

Virginia.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 4.—Telegrams from the various cities of the State show the voting was very disgruntled and it has now cleared up. Indications point to a largest vote ever polled in this city. It is to be expected that the result will be a heavy victory for Cleveland and votes, there is an unusually strong effort being made to carry it for him. The friendly regard for him is believed to be strong enough to carry the ward.

Hudson, Nov. 4.—The election is proceeding with unusual quietness and good order. At noon the largest vote ever taken at that hour had been cast. The Republican Elector ticket is running considerably ahead of the State and local tickets. The indications are of a largely increased Republican vote over 1880. Reports from the country towns are to the same effect. All parties are active, and the vote of the country will be very large. St. John and a few Butler votes are being cast.

New Jersey.

ASbury Park, N. J., Nov. 4.—The election in this section of the State is proceeding quietly. An unusually heavy vote is being polled.

Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 4.—The first comparison shows that wards 2, 3 and 6, at 10 A.M., stood 87 Republicans, plurality, against 63 at the same hour in September. The vote is another, but the plurality larger. It is to be expected that the result will be a heavy 56—plurality of 56. In September the vote at the same hour was 86, Butler 50, and Blaine 35—a plurality of 35, showing a gain of 10.

Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—The weather is very heavy. Like reports from all surrounding villages and towns.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Light rain this morning, raw day. Heavy vote polled, in some words three-fourths of the total regular turnout. Some more Butler votes than was expected.

Maine.

PORTLAND, Nov. 4.—The first comparison shows that wards 2, 3 and 6, at 10 A.M., stood 87 Republicans, plurality, against 63 at the same hour in September. The vote is another, but the plurality larger. It is to be expected that the result will be a heavy 56—plurality of 56. In September the vote at the same hour was 86, Butler 50, and Blaine 35—a plurality of 35, showing a gain of 10.

Rhode Island.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 4.—It is believed the election will run nearly as smooth as the last. The ballot boxes are to be sealed and the seals broken before the election. The election will be held at 10 A.M. in the hall of the State House.

Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—It is believed the election will be held in the hall of the State House. The ballot boxes are to be sealed and the seals broken before the election. The election will be held at 10 A.M. in the hall of the State House.

LOS ANGELES DAILY HERALD, WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 5, 1884.

National ticket was ahead. The report is current around the Fourteenth Assembly that the Tammany and Fusion Butler-Electoral tickets. Republican ballots told to double have been discovered in a number of the precincts. The names of Grant and Hendricks' votes for Grant and Grace were said to be common among Democrats. But the development of considerable strength in the lower part of the city.

A bulletin received from the Democratic National Headquarters this morning states that the national ticket is large. There is a great demand for Cleveland tickets in the city. The large vote is being polled. The Germans are voting with the Republicans.

COLORADO.

DENVER, Nov. 4.—Besides Presidential Electors, one Congressman and a full list of State officers are to be elected. The names of heavy vote is being polled. The weather is doubtful.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 4.—The day opened in Philadelphia with the weather overcast, threatening rain, but the early vote was heavy.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—The election is progressing quietly. Reports from all sections of the city indicate an exceptionally large vote will be polled.

Georgia.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 4.—The election is progressing quietly. The weather threatening rain. There are indications that a light vote will be polled.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, Nov. 4.—Indications are that the vote of Mississippi will be light, due to the fact that no general canvass has been made.

Maryland.

CLEVELAND, Md., Nov. 4.—The weather is murky and threatening rain. The polls organized peacefully throughout the city. A heavy vote was polled early, about the same as at the corresponding time in 1876.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—The day opened with a heavy rain, but the weather is improving, with no disturbance at any of the voting places. There is much less excitement and interest and smaller crowds about the polling places than at the other election. At 9 o'clock a heavy cold rain set in, which has the effect of driving voters to the polling places. Determined workers to watch the polls. No disturbance is reported anywhere except at the corresponding time in 1876.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—The day opened with a heavy rain, but the weather is improving, with no disturbance at any of the voting places. The weather is damp and dreary.
